LESSING: HIS LIFE AND WRITINGS.

By JAMES SIME, M.A.

"It is to Lessing that an Englishman would turn with readiest affection. We cannot but wonder that more of this man is not known among us."—Thomas Carlyle.

"In all literary history," said Heine, as Mr. Sime reminds us in his Preface, "Lessing is the writer whom I most love;" and what good grounds there were for Heine's love Mr. Sime's valuable work will explain to people who perchance only know Lessing as the author of the 'Laocoon,' though indeed that in itself supplies matter enough for admiration and respect."

Saturday Review.

"The work before us, may, therefore, be classed as a contribution to biographical literature of permanent value."—Globe.

"For his most excellent analyses of 'Emilia Galotti' and 'Minna von Barnhelm,' the lovers of Lessing will thank Mr. Sime."

Daily Telegraph.

"In all this we have good evidence of original thought and independent judgment based on the best of all foundations—a careful study of the master's writings."—Graphic.

"All this is told in a most effective manner by Mr. Sime, who is thoroughly master of his subject, and illustrates it with consummate taste and judgment. This is especially the case in the narration of domestic and family scenes, with their sunshine and shadow, their hopes and disappointments, their sorrows and their triumphs."—Notes and Queries.

London: TRÜBNER &amp; Co., Ludgate Hill.

NOW READY, No. 1.

TWO YEARS OF THE EASTERNQUESTION. By A. GALLENGA (of the Times), Author of "Italy Revisited," "Country Life in Piedmont," "The Invasion of Denmark," &c. 2 vols. 8vo, 28s.

The TIMES says:—"Extraordinary opportunities fell into Mr. Gallenga's way, and in these very interesting volumes he has availed himself of them to the full."

The OBSERVER says:—"The book is at once fascinating and amusing, and in many ways the best recent contribution to the literature of the Eastern Question."

The SATURDAY REVIEW says:—"Mr. Gallenga's reminiscences of the East are both agreeable and instructive."

The GRAPHIC says:—"Mr. Gallenga's letters are most interesting in every way... Two volumes, altogether, which bid fair to acquire permanent value as graphic records taken on the spot of some of the most dramatic incidents in history."

Popular New Three-Volume Novels.

GERMAN LETTERS ON ENGLISH EDUCATION.

Written during an Educational Tour in 1876.

By DR. L. WIESE,

Late Privy Councillor in the Ministry of Public Instruction in Prussia.

Translated and Edited by LEONHARD SCHMITZ, LL.D.,
Classical Examiner in the University of London.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Saturday Review says:—"Among the very few critics who can criticise England instructively is Dr. Wiese, who has something really worth studying to say on our system of higher education, who has examined English schools with a care which few Englishmen bestow on them, and who, having been for many years one of the highest educational authorities in Prussia, can compare our system with that which he has long administered."

The School Guardian says:—"We must pass over much that is intensely interesting to educationalists, but we have perhaps said enough to show that here is a thoroughly original work by a very capable writer, well deserving of most careful study by all who have anything to do with English schools, of whatever class."

The School Board Chronicle says:—"We know no English book on the condition and tendencies of our educational systems and methods which can be read with so much profit. We most earnestly recommend all educationalists to read Dr. Wiese's book."

The Scotsman says:—"Dr. Wiese is a man whose opinions on education deserve the most careful consideration. His whole life has been devoted to the subject. He has had rare opportunities of observation. We should do well to listen to the words of such a monitor."

The Spectator says:—"These letters, which show not only a deep and thorough acquaintance with the subject of education in general, but an acute perception of the varied features of our educational system in England in particular, would under any circumstances be of great interest; but at the present time, when so much of our attention in England is devoted to the subject of education, from elementary schools to the Universities, they will be read not only with interest, but, we hope, with advantage."

NEW AND RECENT BOOKS.

"Decidedly the Life of De Quincey is the best biography of the year in the English language."—Vide Critical Notices.

THOMAS DE QUINCEY: His Life and Writings. With Unpublished Correspondence. By H. A. PAGE. Author of "Memoir of Hawthorne," &c. In 2 vols. crown 8vo, cloth, with Portrait, price 21s.

* * * The Letters comprise nearly One Hundred, from Mr. De Quincey to his Family, the Wordsworths, and others; and to him from Mr. Thomas Carlyle, Professor Wilson, and others.

Time.—"The work is enriched by letters which his two surviving daughters have brought out of long-closed repositories. In taking leave of this creditable book, we thank Mr. Page for his labour of love, and congratulate him on the collaboration that he has been favoured with."

Academy.—"At last we are indulged with life of De Quincey. . . . and we are mistaken if the result be not to set Thomas De Quincey on a higher pinnacle as a man with conduct and conscience, a man with responsible family relations, a true gentleman, as well as cultivated scholar, than he had hitherto reached."

New York Herald.—"After reading Mr. Page's biography, we have a very home-like feeling for De Quincey, and we cannot help saying 'Dear old man!' as we read his letters. . . . Altogether, Mr. Page's life of De Quincey is one of the most valuable books of the year, and is as full of anecdote as a man is of mind."

Fall Mall Gazette.—"This biography deserves to be commended. Mr. Page's mastery of the subject is evident, and his criticism exhibits many delicate touches. . . . Among the reminiscences, those by Mr. Hogz will be read with special interest; they give us a life-like portrait of De Quincey, and tell us some quaint anecdotes, which give us a better insight into some of his characteristics than the most elaborate disquisitions."

New York Nation.—"Mr. Page's memoir has very great merits. . . . In reading, we are inspired by that kindlier feeling towards De Quincey which it is the tendency of the whole book to create. It is impossible not to love him in his home relations, and to admire his extraordinary powers and attainments."

Rivista Europea.—"There is so much that is new in biographical facts, and so much new light on the life of De Quincey, as to render this biography a work well-nigh perfect."

Globe.—"Here we at last find a full picture of De Quincey's life, with all the lights and shades so deftly touched in as to leave no canvas uncovered."

Kendal Mercury.—"This was a man who had lived no common life—known no common joy and sorrow. . . . The letters from De Quincey to his daughters throw much light upon his character and habits of mind, and Mr. Hogz's reminiscences cannot fail to be perused with very great interest. Surgeon-Major Eastwell's thoughtful dissertation on the medical aspect of De Quincey's case is worthy the study of the physician as well as the general reader."

Glasgow Herald.—"Mr. Page merits great praise for the pains he has taken to fix De Quincey's position in literature, and to trace the workings of a mind richly endowed indeed with gifts, even when measured by the standard of his own bright contemporaries. . . . The Quarterly Review.—"We are much indebted to Mr. Page for the labour he has bestowed on this biography. . . . A book of much interest and value, and one which fully deserves success."

* * * A Prospectus will be supplied on application, giving extracts from ALL the criticisms which have appeared—upwards of fifty.

SPECTATOR.

"The movement for the Endowment of Research is no longer the impracticable crusade which it appeared to be twelve months ago. The activity of its promoters, and the unexpected sympathy which it has inspired in official quarters, have enabled it to make its way into the arena of practical politics. In the struggle which is being carried on as to University reform, it is one of the forces which must be calculated for, and it is therefore extremely important that we should understand its direction and its aim. The volume before us throws welcome light upon much that was before vague or enigmatical in the programme of the new party."

WORLD.

"In the speech in which he introduced the Oxford Reform Bill, Lord Salisbury made himself the mouthpiece of the authors of Essays in aid of the Endowment of Research."

SATURDAY REVIEW.

"It is, then, a little remarkable that not one of them has even attempted to grapple with the real difficulties of the question."

ATHENAEUM.

"It is something, however, to have pointed out the want, and to have promoted its public recognition. We may now look confidently for future improvement to a set of opinion which has already far outrun the most sanguine anticipations of those who, when they originally appealed to it, did so with scarcely a hope of immediate success."

EXAMINER.

"The object of these essays is to expound a new conception of the proper employment of University endowments; or rather, as the writers seem disposed to put it, to recal men's minds to an old conception which has fallen into neglect."

ACADEMY.

"These essays, which are all written by advocates of what is called Endowment of Research in the Universities, will help to remove many false impressions on that subject. It will be clear from them that all that has been found to be good and useful at Oxford and Cambridge may remain undisturbed, and that there are ample resources to add to it all that the most ardent reformers can desire. The idea of changing the English into German Universities, of suppressing the College system, of substituting professorial for tutorial teaching, is not even mooted in any of these Essays. They are all occupied with the question how the present system of University education can be rendered more efficient, and how, by the side of it, or in the midst of it, all that is good in the German Universities, and much that even German Universities have not hitherto attempted, may be superadded."

MACMILLAN'S MAGAZINE.

"This volume of Essays pleads for the general recognition of principles which would aim at making our Universities the homes of more men like Professor Max Müller. . . . It is not urged that academical revenues should be devoted to that purpose exclusively."

LITERARY CHURCHMAN.

"This remarkable volume is the outward sign of an unmistakeable 'set' which ideas are taking in our generation; and it is, moreover, the proof that scientific studies have entered upon a new phase. . . . It is certainly an astonishing volume."

ECHO.

"This volume contains the best information extant on a subject which, although of national importance, is as yet but imperfectly understood by the general public."

GLOBE.

"The present volume is a thoughtful contribution to the discussion of the subject."

TIMES.

"It is an injustice to an essay so brilliant and so suggestive as Mr. Pattison's to present it to our readers in the above brief and imperfect summary. It deserves the careful attention of all who are interested in the question of University organisation and reform. There can be no doubt that the question raised by Mr. Pattison in his concluding words will have to be discussed, and in some manner settled by the new Oxford Commissioners."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"Several of the earlier essays are of value in clearing the ground of the question. In particular, Mr. Cotton's essay on the intentions of the founders of fellowships is well worth study. . . . Dr. Appleton shows quite conclusively that the Endowment of Education is economically unsound in principle, and with great plausibility that the Endowment of Research is economically sound. . . . Assuming, as it is safe to assume, that some considerable reduction of the number of fellowships will take place, the question arises, What is to be done with the money? and the extreme difficulty of suggesting any more satisfactory answer than that offered by the advocates of the Endowment of Research gives the real strength to their proposals."

STANDARD.

"All our sympathies are with Mr. Pattison and his friends."

NATURE.

"Widely as we should wish to see this book read amongst the laymen of science, the Philistines and those who prophesy to them, politicians and practical reformers, it will certainly be found quite as valuable as by any of these by men of science. Men of science will find in the present volume data and suggestions which should aid them greatly, at this critical moment, to determine what they will urge upon the Government, as the fit relationship between the State and scientific research. . . . The eminence and competency of the writers give it an overwhelming force of authority and reason."
